SENIOR STUDENT COUNCIL

This year's Student Council was headed by Mayor Louis Eaton. It consisted of Ruth Frank, Secretary; Joe Defina, Treasurer; Edward Erwin, Chief of Police; and Mr. G. V. Harrison, Adviser. Aldermen to the council were: seventh and eighth grade, Dorothy Stieninger; ninth grade, Mary Lou Behen and Gerald Miller; tenth grade, Hugh Dye and Bud Murray; eleventh grade, Robert Stremich, Robert Hunter, and Robert Vogtlin; twelfth grade, Stanley Davis and Bill Widmaier.

The Council meets to work out problems of the school. They also raise money to back the Baseball, Basketball, Football, and Golf teams. They have sponsored several dances this year.

In a contest for a school emblem, sponsored by the Student Council, Joan McCollough's entry was chosen to be the most suitable one.

Its first appearance is on the cover of this annual, but in the future it will be used on school stationery and documents.

In September, 1937, the doors of N.H.S. were flung wide to welcome the new freshman tribe about to start the first step toward a high-school career. The officers were; Frank Eaton, president; Louis Eaton, vice-president; Helen Dixon treasurer; Marilyn Cavell, secretary; and Mr. Smith and Mr. Ellison, sponsors. These officers led us through a paper-collecting campaign, a few bake-sales, and a hilarious party at the Farm Crest ranch house. Here, our tribe really showed their cave-man instinct. Then June, and school was out.

It seems that a few members had learned to put their sign language on paper by the time we were sophomores, for after much diligent labor it was discovered that for that year Louis Eaton was chief of the tribe with Joe Defina as his right-hand brave. Betty Stilwell maintained the position of scribe, Ruth Parmenter, tomahawk in hand, guarded our growing pile of mazuma, and Ida Walker represented us at the council meetings. Mr. Ellison called this to be his second hectic year with us, while Mrs. Herrick aided him in the quelling of our youthful lust for adventure. At the tribal pow-wows, the majority carried on much the same as they did as freshmen; generally maintaining a subtle riot. A few, however, in their saner moments, managed to throw a few bake sales and the like which proved to be the actual start of a financially successful journey.

In the fall of '39 a changed group of students returned to re-apply their noses to the grind-stone. The office of president this year was held by Ida Walker while Joe Defina remained an officially available substitute. Ruth Frank wrote the records of our class meetings; Ruth Parmenter kept track of the fiscal functions; and sponsors, Mr. Ellison and Mr. Mollema guided us through a busy year. "Flash" Holcomb and mayor-to-be L. Eaton served as aldermen. Some of our more ambitious squaws raked down nearly a tenth of a grand in U.S. wampum by selling a drink called ginger-ale at the local fair. Magazines were sold with some gusto by a few and we also had a hand in the N-club's first Carnival. Mr. Lee deserves a great deal of credit for his directing of our class play "Applesauce." The real event of the year came in the form of our J-Hop which was a highly enjoyable project for all concerned.

Following the summer vacation we, with a few changes, returned for our last year in Northville High. We were decidedly more mature. There was much less confusion at class meetings and fewer carelessly prepared lessons. WE were "seniors," and we knew it. Our skipper this year has been Marilyn "Mac" Cavell and a mighty able one too. For first mate we chose Bill Widmaier who has also served as alderman. The log has been kept by Betty Stilwell, while Frank Eaton has cared for the ship's treasure chest. Because of splendid cooperation by the crew and the tireless help of Mrs. Cooke the grand sum of nearly $290 was netted by our booth at the Northville Fair. Decorations were along the Mexican line for the Prom which proved an all round success. Among other activities that the seniors took part in were the following; selling Christmas cards, giving a dance, having a booth in the N-Club carnival, and selling candy.

Again Mr. Lee turned out a great play, "The Valley of Ghosts". Financially it was a record-breaking success, and three instead of the usual two performance three were given. And then came the time for our hopes to be rewarded and our fears to end; our departure for the nation's capital. Fifty-four of our class of sixty-eight spent five of the most memorable days of their lives on that trip. To Mr. and Mrs. Mollema and Mr. and Mrs. Ellison go our complete thanks for the grand time they helped us have on the trip.

And soon now our long voyage will come to an end. The sea of fate has been kind, and the graduating class of 1941 will remember that they spent four of their most interesting, exciting, and unforgettable years of their lives in Northville High School.

ELEVENTH GRADE HISTORY

The Junior Class has had many successful projects. At the Vernor stands the girls made over a $100. The concessions at the carnival in 1940 won the five dollar prize for having the most successful booth. They made over a $100 selling magazines. The Junior Play, "Life Begins At 16", was quite successful. They also had some outstanding dances, among them the Harvest Dance in October. Their J-Hop was held May 3 with music furnished by Frank Link and his twelve piece orchestra from Dearborn.

The class sponsors are Miss Kathryn Giltner and Mr. Charles Yahne.

The class officers this year are: President, Maxine Coe; Vice President, Robert Stremich; Secretary, Laura Jean Litsenburger; Treasurer, Murna Hubbard.

The choir has about sixty members and is capable of singing eight-part arrangements.

It gave its winter concert on January 30, 1941. They sang some very well known songs: Listen to the Lambs...Dett; Emitte Spiritum Tuum...Scheutky

The boys and girls have separate Glee Clubs. They were a part of the concert also.

Each year the choir puts on a light opera and this year it is to be "The Pirates of Penzance", the famous opera by Gilbert and Sullivan.

This year the choir will be losing a great number of seniors. Of the sixty members the following are seniors:

Ernestine Lewis, P.G.; Ruth Frank, Jane Behen, Ida Marie Walker, Marilyn Cavell, Betty Yerkes, Valora Wheeler, Mary Ellen Burgess, Robert Baker, Ronald Anderson, Bob Ross, Douglas McCluskie, Allan Barnard, Sprague Lester, Louis Eaton, Bob Boyden, Chandler Parker, and Harold Martens.

This year the band has a membership of sixty students but due to the fact that some have been promoted from the Junior Band their pictures do not appear here.

Throughout the last year this organization has played at the home football games, for several civic functions, has marched on Decoration Day, opened the Recreation Program, and last but not least has given two formal concerts, one during the middle of winter and the other in May.

The Junior Band, which acts as a feeder for the Senior Band, has done a lot of practicing and marching this past year.

A lot of credit goes to Mr. Leslie G. Lee, who directs both bands.

OUR APPRECIATION TO THOSE WHO HAVE CONTRIBUTED TO THE ADVERTISEMENTS.

Mr. Weeks: "What are you doing, Bob?"

Bob: "Nothing."

Mr. Weeks: "What are you doing, Bill?"

Bill: "Helping Bob."

-----

Mr. Hensch: (in Chemistry class):

"What can you tell me about nitrates?"

John C.: "Well, they're cheaper than day-rates."

-----

Junior Higher: "What's the difference between ammonia and pneumonia?"

Mr. Yahne: "Ammonia comes in bottles, and pneumonia comes in chests."

Harvy R. (dashing into a drug store):

"Quick! My father is being chased by a bull!"

Clerk: (excitedly): "What can I do?"

Harvy: "Give me a film for my camera, hurry!"

-----

Many offenders have gone into Mr.
Harrison's office like roaring lions,
but have usually come out like postage stamps-licked.

-----

Chan Parker: "Will I be able to sing
after my tonsils are out, Doctor?"

Dr. Atchison:— "Why, yes, of course!"

Chan: "How much extra will I have to pay for that?"
