Dedication

Roland J. Peterson

A dynamic teacher who believes in students, Mr. Peterson has given much to the school and the three graduating classes he has taught. Besides initiating the journalism program and with it the first school newspaper, Mr. Peterson has also originated the accelerated college prep English course at the senior level.

The informal classroom is his trademark. By encouraging a free exchange of ideas in a supportive atmosphere, Mr. Peterson has helped students to discover the importance of logical thinking and sound opinions. A simple "Good show!" on a paper has brought many an outward as well as inward smile to a student. He knows that his ideas have been accepted by someone he respects.

Mr. Peterson's enthusiasm and genuine interest in students mark his after school hours. As sponsor of the Palladium and The Mustang, he spends many evenings with students getting ready for press, while also writing for the Northville Record. As he leaves this year, the Palladium staff sends him sincere hopes for success in the future and a thank you for his many contributions to NHS.

Memoriam

Edward F. Angove, who died unexpectedly during the school year, was a man who always displayed a sincere interest in the activities of students. Besides being the father of three children, a well known business man, and a member of the board of education, he was a familiar figure at many school functions, particularly at sports events. This book, a journey which he watched closely, is one measure of our esteem.

Homecoming

Dawn begins her reign.

Rosie and Susie grace her court.

Queen Dawn McAllister and her court:

Seniors:	Susan Hill and Rosalie Frontera
Junior:	Cynthia Haynes
Sophomore:	Rhonda Bongiovanni
Freshmen:	Kim McCormick

The evening began with a kiss.

Not even the showers, which caused postponement of the halftime presentation, could dampen the victorious spirit of homecoming. The enthusiasm and jubilation of evening could be seen in the face of everyone at the dance as Queen Dawn and her court reigned in the glory of victory.

Dawn danced the whole night through.

The queen and her court made the evening complete.

Talks by Mr. Horwath around the blackboard proved constructive and at times even humorous.

Northville took to the airways relying on the passing arm of Tom Baughman and the pass catching ability of All State end, Jerry Imsland. For his stellar performances on the gridiron Imsland was named most valuable player and captain of his team and was selected as a member of the All League, All Suburban, and various state teams.

Determination, sacrifice and team work are the qualities needed for a championship team. The 1965-66 Mustangs displayed these tools in coping both a Co-Championship in the Wayne-Oakland League and a district crown at Clarenceville. These qualities were shown in the regional game against the Holt too. Although the Mustangs played inspired basketball, the Rams of Holt emerged victorious in a rugged game decided in the second overtime period.

HITCH HIKERS TO '68

JV's Continue Winning Ways

It was just like old times last Tuesday night as the Northville junior varsity squad crumpled South Lyon, 66-32, in the Northville high school gym.

The same group continued to post a 15-3 record under Northville Coach Becker, picked up where they left off last year. And what's more, Kucher, like his cagers, moved up to this year's junior varsity.

Last year, Northville's freshmen handed South Lyon in a similar fashion, winning 75-48 in the final game of the season. Now as then they picked the unsuspecting Cubs up all over the floor, forcing one mistake after another.

"At times we played good ball," said Kucher, "but at other times, we didn't look very good. It may have been a case of first-game jitters, but we have to work to overcome certain phases of our game."

Cagers Trip Holly

The cagers were on a trip to Holly, Mich., for a basketball game. The team, coached by Coach Becker, won the game 66-32. The team was led by Kucher, who scored 15 points. Other players who scored were Jim Perdue, 15, and Gerald Matthews, 13 and eight, respectively.

Colts Coast Past Holly

Playing their own brand of basketball, the Northville Colts rolled to their second straight victory at the home basketball arena, Holly, 74-51, whipping the Colts. Coach Becker's cagers applied the all-court press from the opening buzzer, and never let the Colts get a shot off the floor. "We did a great job of forcing turnovers," said Kucher. "That's going to be our first game here." The Colts, coached by Coach Becker, won the game 66-32.
