Move Over, Sundance Kid- Northville is Headin' West!

Like the pioneers when they moved west, Northville is exploring new horizons, adapting old ideas and inspiring new ones. One old idea has come back to NHS—the six-hour day. Although unpopular among some students, the administration feels it successfully cuts hallway disturbances to a minimum. New in the office this year, the xerox machine has enabled teachers to have more information available to students. The NHS Beautification Committee, created during the 1979-80 school year, has worked on the school grounds. Last year, they painted the lavatories, hallways and outside trim. This year, they concentrated their efforts on the outside of the building.

Northville became a village in 1867, though the name had referred to the area for many years. In its early days, Northville was a very industrial community. Some of the companies such as Parmenter's Cider Mill and Northville Lumber have flourished and survived to the present day. Other buildings from Northville's early history are being preserved in the Historical Society's Mill Race Village or are presently being used as homes, stores and offices.

Mainstreet '78 Becomes a Reality

The results of Mainstreet '78 became apparent throughout the '80-'81 school year. The first visible appearances were unpleasant ones—torn-up sidewalks, blocked parking lots, and partial construction in the streets. But the outcome was one of a more beautiful downtown Northville

NHS — More Than Academics

Each day, students attend classes, study and socialize. Their clubs, extra-curricular activities, and sports make school something to look forward to. Without students, Northville High would be just another building. Students make the school what it is.

All good cowboys have their distinguishing brands, and Northville High School students were no exception. The "punk" and "western" crazes left their marks in this territory. Both cowpokes and their gals latched onto the new punk-short haircuts, radical clothes, cowboy boots and hats, western clothing, and designer jeans.

NHS Comes Home with the Movies

After a week of traditional class competition, Homecoming closed on a very wet Oct. 17. The floats wilted in the rain; the people were cold and uncomfortable, but the school spirit prevailed. The Mustangs beat Walled Lake Western 25-12 in an exciting game. The King and Queen were Dave Harper and Diana Overby. The Court members were Cindy Phillips, Dave Ward, Julie Young, Matt Yanoschik, Lorie Coolman, Todd Zoroya, Pam Stevens, and Dave Arwady.

Northville High School comes to life when given the chance to leave the conventional school atmosphere and take part in the pep assemblies, food fights, and spirit week. Other ways to avoid the famous "hum-drum" life of school are found through the fall play, equestrian team, and conservation trips. Many activities are available at NHS. Which one is right for you?

- 2 Dawn Wheeler, Mark Denhof, Erin McGowan, Steve Cornalino and Neil Fitzpatrick are all very close friends.
- 3 Junior girls, powderpuff football champs, get ready for some rough and wet action.

The Miracle Worker

Mr. Kinde has returned to do the fall play once again. "The Miracle Worker," by William Gibson, was his choice. It is about Annie Sullivan's (Aimee Jacques) accomplishment of bringing Helen Keller, (Kay Belser) a deaf, blind child, into the world of language. Aimee Jacques received the "Oliver" award for excellence on stage. Jordan Stevenson received the "George" for his work with the light crew. The "Something's Afoot" award went to costume chairperson Betsy Rosser for repairing the dress that fell off on stage.

Dances and Pep Assemblies

Keeping in spirit with western trends and the theme of the yearbook, western attire was required of all couples at the Sadie Hawkins dance this year. The theme of the Homecoming dance was "The Rose," by Bette Middler, with Queen Diana Overby and King Dave Harper presiding. The sophomore party helped the newcomers to the high school get to know each other.

Pep assemblies have been the center of a controversy this year. Early in the year, food fights led the administration to cancel the pep assemblies in November and December. The food fights quickly stopped and eventually we were allowed to have pep assemblies. Even though the pep assemblies have been controversial, it doesn't mean that they haven't been fun.

Seeing Double??

Being a twin has its good and bad points, or so the twelve sets of twins at Northville High seem to think. (For such a small school, N.H.S. has a large number of twins, plus a set of triplets.) Having a brother or sister who is the same age and in the same grade means having someone to talk to and to share experiences with. But when you're constantly confused with your twin, even by your parents, it can get tiresome. Sometimes being thought of as "a twin", rather than as a person can also be tiring. All in all, being a twin has its ups and downs, as it would with any pair of siblings, but twins share a special bond that makes their relationship unique.

Conservation Trip

On the first Sunday of October until the following Tuesday, fourteen hand-picked students gave up the finer things in life to live in the wilderness of Camp Mahn-Go-Tah-See near East Tawas in Iosco County. During the three-day excursion, they visited the AuSable River, the Huron National Forest, and the 1980 forest fire area. Also included were scary stories around the camp fire. This year's class, which was run by Mr. Meteyer, was Kris Baggett, Vicki Beauchamp, Missy Besh, Mike Byrd, Cheryl Didyk, Annette Folino, Ann Hurley, Melissa McDaniel, Kathy Norman, Michael Platt, Terry Raczkowski, Betsy Rosser, Ken Siller, and, Michelle Waldman.

Helping Hands

Northville High students help their community in many ways. Many students became involved in raising money to help fight Muscular Dystrophy. They sponsored a pie throw and a twenty-four hour dance marathon with Novi High to raise money. The student congress and the Red Cross held a blood drive at the high school and collected 67 pints of blood. Ms. Crawford's community service class visited the elementary schools to give younger children presentations on the dangers of smoking. The presentations were entertaining, using the story of the Three Little Pigs to illustrate their point.

Sports

So many students are involved in high school sports that it has become a big part of life here at N.H.S.. Not only the old favorites like football, but also those sports that are relatively new to the school, such as soccer. Even those who aren't athletically inclined can enjoy watching a good basketball or baseball game. Since virtually every student at Northville High is touched by these events, they become an important and fun part of our high school life.

- 1 Andy Earhart is ready to go get 'em, all alone, if necessary.
- 2 Les Neal rushes to get the ball for the Mustangs.
- 3 Keeping control of the ball is hard, but Janet Hudolin does it with ease.

Varsity Football

Nineteen-eighty was a year to be remembered for the football team. They were picked in the preseason to finish no better than fourth in the powerful Western Six Conference. With an early upset victory against the 1979 champion Churchill, the Mustangs thought that they were on their way. However League and State playoff-bound Farmington Harrison came in and picked the Mustangs apart, 40-7. At this point in the season the team could have folded, however they rebounded with four straight victories, including a 25-12 victory over powerful Walled Lake Western. The strong performance against Western gave the Mustangs sole possession of second place. All-league ballplayers this year include: Dave Greer, QB; Steve Norton, OG; John Ackley, OT; Brian Pratt, FL; Dave Ward, DE; and Tim McLaughlin, DB.

The 1980 Junior Varsity football season was one of inconsistency and injury. Many key players were injured early in the season and the tough schedule took its toll on the rest of the team. Although they lost 6 games many of the games were up for grabs right to the last few critical minutes. The playing experience the Junior Varsity players received will definitely benefit the 1981 Varsity Mustangs.

Varsity Basketball

The Varsity team had one of their best seasons in recent history as they finished with an 18-5 overall record. They completed the regular season with a win over Livonia Churchill, which gave them an 8-2 record in Western Six Conference play, tying them for the championship of the Western Six with Farmington Harrison. The Varsity went on to win the District 21 Championship in the Class A district held in NHS's gym. The season ended with a 70-58 loss to tough Detroit Cooley High in Regional Tournament play at Livonia Franklin High. Dave Ward and Dave Greer, Co-captains of this year's varsity team, led the team in both scoring and rebounding. Coach Tim Lutes expressed hope for next year's team as well, saying that all six of this year's juniors have valuable experience in basketball.

Girls' Varsity Basketball

Finishing fourth in the Western-Six conference, the girls improved on last year's five win record. Junior, Jacque Nixon, was one of the reasons for this improvement. She led the team as well as the league, in scoring, with an average of 17 points per game and was a unanimous selection for the All-League first team. The Mustangs second highest scorer (with a 6.6 point per game average), Melinda House, was named to the league's second team. With these and other good players, the next year's players and fans can look forward to a winning season.

Girls' JV Basketball

Though the team had a losing season, the girls worked hard to improve their game. Coach Holdsworth blamed the rough season partially on the lack of a stronger girls' basketball program at the junior high level, and the loss of key players during the season. One of the best all-round players on the team, leading in both offensive and defensive play and scoring a total of 132 points, was Jenny Gans. Despite their small number, the girls played well and can look forward to a good season next year.

Boys' Swimming

The boys' swim team finished their season with a 4-7 overall record. Although several of its team members consistently won first and second places in their events, the team often did not collect enough points to take the meet. Pete Talbot, himself a Northville alumnus, coached the team for his second year.

Girls' Swim Team

Northville's High School Girls' Swim Team and their coach, Ben Lauber, deserve to be proud of themselves. Their dual meet record was excellent with 11 wins and only 2 losses. The girls were the Plymouth Invitational Champions of 1980, as well as being League Champions. They closed the season after breaking five league records. Four of these records were set by Northville's two All-American swimmers, Allyson Farquhar and Kim Storm. The records broken were the 50 and 100 yard freestyle, the 200 yard individual medley, the 100 yard breaststroke, and the 400 yard freestyle relay. After the successful season, everyone was sorry to hear Mr. Lauber announce his retirement from coaching.

Gymnastics

Northville Gymnasts did very well in competition this year. Many of the winning scores can be attributed to the strong base the team had in such gymnasts as junior Paula Broderick, the teams leading scorer, senior co-captains Hollie Raycraft and Anita Hodge, and sophomores Pam Stephens and Amy Aaron. The team ended the season in style by taking first place and becoming League Champs!

Volleyball

This year's Mustang varsity volleyball team made a marked improvement over last year's three win record. Part of their success was attributed to a new coaching technique employed by Coach McDonald. This season they beat most of the teams that they lost to last year, coming from behind in almost every game. Even with their slow starts, once the girls got rolling, they were a hard team to beat.

The all-sophomore junior varsity team, with it's new coach Mr. Osborn, also had a strong, if not unbeaten, season.

Cross Country

The NHS Cross Country Team certainly had a strong season. After an early setback at the Schoolcraft Invitational, the team set things straight by successively defeating Farmington, Canton, and John Glenn, and by winning the Junior Class trophy at the Brighton Invitational. Also, Northville won its fourth consecutive League Championship with a 1, 2, 4, 11, 13 finish by the runners. To finish a fine season, Clark Couyoumjian, Scott Dayton, and Dave Malinowski were named to the All-League team. Northville took second place at regional competition, and Couyoumjian set a new school record at the state meet, with a fifth place finish.

Golf

The 1980 Golf Team at Northville High finished with an overall record of ten wins and two losses. The league record was eight wins and two losses to place Northville second. The team had a fine showing at the Plymouth Best Ball Tournament where they placed fourth out of 21. The team was led with the best scoring average by Captin Ted Seltz, a three year monogram winner, who was named to the All-League team. Five monogram winners will return for the 1981 season. They are; Mark Goodson, Steve Handley, Terry McMann, Dave Pohlod, and Greg Wolfe.

Soccer

In our division, the Northville soccer team was second. Part of the team was struck with the flu, preventing them from playing their best, and they were out of the tournament on a 0-2 loss. The team is in the top eight of the state. One main accomplishment of the season was a complete lack of injuries. Another one was winning the championship at the Country Day Invitational.

The soccer team also had two All-State players, Kevin Swayne, a first team selection, and Dave McElroy, an All-State Honorable Mention.

Spring Sports

The big story of the 1980 spring sports season was the success of the varsity baseball team. The squad, coached by Mr. Robert Kucher, took first place in the Western Six League. The Girls Varsity Soccer team made its debut in 1980. Mr. Ron Meteyer coached the team to a successful season. The other spring sports, Boy and Girls Track, Boys Tennis, and Softball looked to 1981 for a better season.

Academics

As students, our academic courses influence our lives now and in the future. NHS offers a variety of basic and specialized courses. These classes range from American Government, which is required of everyone, to others like Advanced Biology for those pupils especially interested in the sciences. At Northville High, pride is taken in our teachers, as well as, our range of selective courses.

- 1 Ms. Conzelman's smile is very contagious.
- 2 Things can get serious as Drs. Aune and Campbell discuss the latest administrative problem.

Board of Ed. and Central Admin.

The Northville board of education presides over affairs that directly affect all students. This fiscal year the board revised the philosophy of education. This philosophy contains the guidelines that govern the day-to-day activities of the school. Another recent accomplishment of the board is its' decision to review our standing in the athletic league and possibly change classes and leagues.

- 1 Dr. Aune and Mr. Redmond present their proposal to the board.
- 2 The school Board: Burton Knighton, David Llewellyn, Richard Barron, Douglas Whitaker, Christopher Johnson.

- 3 Trustee Whitaker listens intently to the discussion.

President of the Board

Frustrated with the handling of problems, Chris Johnson joined the Northville School Board in 1976. After five years on the board, Chris was appointed president; thereby giving him the duties of running the meetings, planning the agenda, maintaining order, and notifying the members of upcoming events. All these things are done without pay.

When he is not running the board, Chris goes to Detroit Law School. He also works as a law clerk in a firm called Cummings, McClorey, Daves, Acho, P.C.

Dr. Aune has been in education for twenty-one years. For five of those years he taught English and History on a U.S. Air Force base in France. This was his fourth year as principal of NHS.

In his spare time, Dr. Aune enjoys reading, singing in a church choir, and working on the executive board of the Farmington Soccer Club. The Aune family also enjoys camping, cross-country skiing, and travelling.

Mr. Ralph Redmond

Dr. George Aune, Dr. Barbara Campbell, and Mr. Ralph Redmond share the role of seeing that the school runs smoothly, with as few problems as possible. Mr. Redmond also serves as Athletic Director, overseeing the various athletic events of the school.

The secretaries help to insure that things run smoothly. Among other things, they take care of attendance records, phone calls, and for the first time this year, running the xerox machine. Mrs. Hall and Mrs. Oliver are the secretaries in the office. Mrs. Juday, Mrs. Kissel and Mrs. Young are the secretaries in the counseling office.

Service People

Though their jobs affect daily school life, the lunch ladies and janitors are usually taken for granted. The lunch ladies are already bustling in the kitchen when the students arrive at school in the morning. They prepare lunch which is sold from 3rd hour to the end of 4-2 lunch; and they sell cereal, Hostess snacks, and homemade sweet rolls to breakfasters and morning snackers. The janitors' work, general maintenance and clean-up, is a continuous job during the school day, after which the nightly clean-up begins.

Counseling

Worried students who need class changes, college applications, entrance tests and many other problems come to the counseling office. Mr. Wickens was the senior counselor, Mrs. Cohen, the junior counselor and Mrs. Olson, the sophomore counselor. Their job was to help students with their problems and show them possibilities for their future. The importance of the counselors is most obvious during the beginning of the school year but their help is needed throughout the year.

- 1 Tracy Weatherhead and Dorreen Benoit wait for their counseling appointments.

Senior Counselor Mr. Wickens

When Mr. Wickens is home, he enjoys reading the Sunday newspaper (especially the comics and the sports), his Wheaties box, and the side panels of corn flakes boxes. Some of his many chores are gathering hay and feeding his three horses. His hobbies include camping, a variety of sports, (both as a spectator and as a participant), riding his well-trained horses and jogging. Mr. Wickens enjoys being a counselor at NHS but, "It's not all it's cracked up to be. It's a lot of work."

Mrs. Gladys Cohen

Special Education

The Special Education program at NHS is composed of a self-contained classroom, a resource room, and a teacher-consultant program. Classes consist of modified regular classes and pre-vocational and vocational courses, taught by Mr. Colligan and Ms. Henderson. Rounding off the Special Education team are Mrs. Koops, teacher-consultant, and Mr. Blake, school social worker.

The New Special Ed. Teacher

Teaching in a high school for the first time, Ms. C. Henderson, our new special education teacher, became a teacher after having been a telephone operator. Her first four years of teaching were spent in elementary and ISEP schools. She finds the techniques, course levels and colloquialisms in high school very different. Ms. Henderson feels that more interaction between special ed. and regular NHS students would improve the program. "You feel so good about yourself when you work with these kids. They seem to lift you up." For relaxation, Ms. Henderson swims, sews and sells handmade depression glass.

English

New to the English department this year was Mrs. Gerda Burnside. She taught Journalism and was also the sponsor of the school paper. Mrs. Dwyer taught Broadcasting and Writing II for the first time, and Mrs. Conzelman was a novice in the Reading Lab. Ms. Dorrian-Sandbothe found a captivating audience in the Humanities class for her slides of Europe. Mr. Dent was an addition to the Humanities teaching team.

Mr. John Donahue

Ms. Lorraine Woodard

Ms. Pat Conzelman

Woman of the Year

Ms. Dorrian-Sandbothe has been teaching at NHS for twenty six of her thirty four years as a teacher. She assisted Florence Panattoni in directing plays at NHS for ten years. She originated the Humanities and Creative Writing classes, and had Mrs. Brown and Ms. Woodard as student teachers. Ms. Dorrian-Sandbothe works as a volunteer for the American Heart Association. She enjoys traveling and has been to the British Isles and continental Europe five times, Greece and Japan once. She enjoys theatrical work, having worked with the Redford Theater and the Dearborn Acting Guild. She is also an avid reader. In the fall of 1980, the Northville Business and Professional Women's Club selected her as "Woman of the Year."

Ms. Serafa-Manschot has taught Spanish for Eight years.

This summer, she will accompany some of her students on a European tour, spending six days in London and Paris and ten days in Spain. This will be her fourth trip. Last year, she acted as an interpreter for a man from a South American company. For hobbies, Ms. Serafa enjoys ethnic cooking, cake decorating and dancing with her husband.

Mathematics

One of the tasks of the NHS math teachers is teaching students the difference between a hyperbola and a parabola. Mr. Johnson, Mr. Dunwoodie, Mr. Osborn, Mr. Schumacher and Mrs. Todd are returning to teach the same classes they taught last year. Our new teacher, Mrs. Nancy Arnold, is teaching Honors Geometry, Consumers Math and Algebra II. The math teachers also have the challenge of preparing students for the rigors of college mathematics.

The Man with 101 Talents

Mr. Meteyer, who has been at NHS for eleven years, teaching biology, managed his way through college by giving piano lessons. He also played the guitar and cornet. After trying his hand at painting, which he claims every artist does, he decided to be different and try his skill with wood. He carves both small figurines and animals. In the past, Mr. Meteyer has coached swimming. He presently coaches our successful soccer team.

Science

Many interesting things happen in the science department. Students in Biology learn animal classification, anatomy and dissection. When they move to Advanced Biology, they dissect a sheep's brain and other parts of the poor animal's anatomy. In Chemistry, students attempt many experiments, some of them more successful than others. In Physics, students apply the math they have learned to the laws of the natural sciences. The environment we live in becomes the emphasis of the Conservation student, both in the classroom and on field trips.

Social Studies

Every four years something happens to the members of the social studies department. They get hit with election year fever. Ms. LeBoeuf's classes were in charge of the school's mock election. Before the election her classes and the other government classes followed the campaign and studied the candidates. The outcome of the mock election was as follows: Ronald Reagan won, and John Anderson narrowly defeated Jimmy Carter for second place. The other government classes are taught by Mr. Dent and Mrs. Walker. Mrs. Walker also teaches Sociology and Adult Living. Ms. Crawford teaches Personal Psychology and Community Service. Mr. Holdsworth and Mr. Townsley teach history. Mr. Townsley also teaches Economics.

Politics in Action

Ms. Barbara Leboeuf is the President of the local teachers union, a part of the National Education Association. There are many duties that go along with her position, but she still devotes much of her time and effort to the students of NHS. In her government classes this year, she emphasized the stands of the presidential candidates. She feels that students should be informed about politics, and that the "hands-on" idea is the best way for students to learn about our government.

Fine Arts

Academic courses are only part of the NHS curriculum. There are also courses to let students express themselves artistically. Students can draw or make pottery in Mr.

Pedersen's art classes. Musically talented students can join one of the school's bands, directed by Mr. Rumbell. A student can also join the NHS marching band, which returned with new uniforms after a year's absence. NHS has something for everyone.

Home Economics

The main objective of the Home Economics Department is to teach students necessary living skills. This year, for the first time, a family planning unit was taught in the Health and Child Care classes. Ms. Carla Tibble, who has taught at Northville for three years, says she enjoys the variety of the Home Economics courses. Ms. Tibble belongs to the Curriculum Council, an organization that examines what is being taught in high schools. In her free time, she enjoys sailing with her family.

- 1 Jim Vallance and Seth Swallow practice their parts.

Business

- 2 After completing their work, Greg May and Rick Marshall relax.
- 3 Kim Maguire and Stacey Hoover find their accounting very easy.
- 4 Bob Darrow and Jeff Niewkoop dispute an answer.

The Business Department teaches students many practical skills; typing, shorthand and accounting. The Co-op Program, another aspect of this department, gives students both classroom and practical experience. After a five year absence, data processing, taught by Mrs. Gorshak, has returned. The business department received some new equipment this year, a telephone training set and some new microcomputers. With these, students gained experience in the field of computer science.

Antique Car Buff

For the first time, Mr. Schwartz was in charge of the Auto Shop this year. Because of his interest in antique cars, Mr. Schwartz began collecting and restoring them two years ago. Underclassmen

This year's underclassmen worked hard to make the year a good one. The juniors faced new challenges and experiences. They tied for first place in the homecoming week activities and raised money through their salesmanship and hard work on a magazine sales campaign. The sophomores faced the usual first day jitters, but soon learned 'the ropes' as well as their lessons. They established themselves as an up-and-coming class in the fall by choosing their class officers and building their first homecoming float. Both the classes of '82 and '83 can look back on a good year and, hopefully, forward to a better one.

War Games

Larry Baltz, Phillip Benstein, Roy Kiplinger, and Abdish Bhavsar spent each Saturday playing different war games. Those war games are either historical simulations, which are played on a map, or hypothetical situations that take place in the future. These games are also played on a map, but can be directed by a referee. The reason these four play the war games is because of the knowledge gained by recreating events of the past and also for the sheer enjoyment of playing.

"We have tried almost every game available to us on the market and the only game we refuse to play is Dungeons and Dragons."

Ballerina

Lisa Ehlert, who has been dancing for 9 years, joined the Michigan Ballet Theatre in October. Her first recital with the company was "The Nutcracker", one of her favorite ballets. Lisa says that dancing with a company involves a lot of competition and hard work, but you also get a chance to work with famous choreographers like Dominic Misimi. She says that through the company she gets a look at the world of professional dancing.

Police Exploration

Mead's Mill's Career Days gave David Hutchinson a boost into the field of police work. He belongs to the Michigan State Explorers post 214 which lets him "explore" police work. David has helped officers with handcuffing and general procedures. He says that it takes up a lot of his time, but is interesting.

Highland Dancer

Highland Dancing, formerly an all male activity, is now performed only by women. Mary Ross has been taking these Scottish dance lessons for six years. In her Green Stuart kilt, she has danced in district and state competitions as well as shows and weddings. She also danced at the 1980 Republican Convention. Through rigorous practice of at least five hours a week, Mary has won three trophies and many ribbons.

Tom Yanoschik is involved in several school sports activities. He is a six-year veteran of football. This year he was a great asset to the J.V. team as their quarterback. Tom also expresses an interest in joining the track team and running in either the 440 yard dash or the half-mile.

Besides being active in school sports, he is also involved in several other school activities. In the past he has won fourth and seventh places in state forensic meets. Tom is also a member of the student council.

In Memoriam

We'd like to thank Marcia and Brad Collins for being with us when we needed their friendship and love. They were there, sharing the laughter and good times. They were excellent people and always good-hearted. They both believed in living their lives to the fullest, and we're glad that they shared some of that time with us.

Deep down in our hearts, they're still with us, and always will be. The memories that we shared will not be forgotten, but placed in a box in our hearts to yellow with age. And when our time comes, we'll bring out those memories to enjoy them with our dearest friends, Marcia and Brad.

As a first time treasurer, Erin McGowan handled the money from all of the class fund raisers, such as the traditional magazine sale.

As secretary, Lorie Coolman helped to lead the junior class. She had pride in the class as well as the school.

Jeff Lee's Dream Comes True

Since the age of five, Jeff Lee's greatest dream has been to become an actor. At nine he began to realize his dream when he starred in "Jerry and the Circus." He now commutes regularly with other aspiring young actors to New York for auditions. The toughest part about acting, for Jeff, is the disappointment of not getting the part. Some of his many accomplishments are: "The Magic Balloon", a musical on channel 7; forty commercials, for Hardee's and Burger Chef, to name a few; fifteen Theater Guild productions; "1000 Clowns" at a Detroit dinner theater; "Mame" in New York; some educational and industrial films; screen tests for Walt Disney's "Pete's Dragon" and "Alice"; "Damn Yankee" and "Peter Pan" at Greenfield Village; and some modeling for J.L. Hudson's.

Darlene Zuby Spends a Fashionable Summer in Ecuador

In the summer of 1980, Darlene Zuby spent the entire summer with a family in Ecuador. She was visiting an exchange student that had spent a year with the Zuby family six years ago. Darlene spent much time sightseeing. She is taking Spanish now with hopes of spending a year with this family after graduation.

Seniors

Seniors this year will take with them many fond memories of N.H.S. Some memories were the winning "Emerald City" Homecoming float, winning the pep assembly spirit contest, and that special moment in the spring of '81 when thirteen long years of school came to a glorious end. These were only a few of the many things that will long be remembered by these spirited seniors. Though each member of the class of '81 has now gone his or her own way, they all share the memories of good friends and good times, as well as the knowledge that they gained.

1 Steve Norton and Dave Greer enjoy being seniors.

2 Joe Traudt, Scott Munerance and Mike Nicopolis are all very serious about school.

Carol Wissman has been the vice-president of the class of '81 for three years. She was in the pep club and captain of the varsity cheerleading squad.

Linda Schneider, class secretary, helped organize the class picnic and helped at registration, along with doing all the class' paperwork. Linda was on the swim team, softball team, and in the National Honor Society.

Julie Young, class treasurer, planned all the fund-raisers for the senior class. She was pep club's speaker-of-the-house, one of the Students Against Smoking (SAS), and worked on the Muscular Dystrophy Dance-a-thon.

“George” Award Winner

To the average student at NHS, Greg Ayers may seem like just another drama person, but the people who put on the plays at NHS know better. In his sophomore year, Greg was head of set construction for the spring musical, “Once Upon a Mattress”, for which he won the “George Award” and also for the spring play, “Oklahoma”. He helped design the set for “Arsenic and Old Lace” and helped build the senior class float. Besides heading up the set crew, Greg worked on lights and sound. Greg enjoys skiing. In the summers, he works as a back-packing guide at Philmount Boy Scout Camp, New Mexico.

Professional Writer

Steve Chisnel first started writing in elementary school. Being unwillingly pushed into writing for a competition he discovered that his ability was something more than an amateur-type style. In more recent years, Steve has been trying to refine his form with the enthusiastic help of Ms. Dorrian-Sandbothe. She, more than anyone, has prodded Steve into entering seminars and discussions at Western and Central Michigan colleges. At these symposiums, Steve's works were critiqued by professional authors.

Steve plans to major in a specific area of English, but sometimes feels torn between his music and writing.

Jeong Chong moved to this country from Korea about six years ago. He still misses many of his friends and relatives who still live in Korea. When he came here he had a hard time adjusting to the new language and customs. But his family still speaks in Korean and carries on some of the customs. Jeong finds that there is more freedom in this country. He also finds that it is a richer environment. There are many more things to see and do here.

Special Education Volunteer

At the end of each school day Carolyn Covey goes down to the Old Village School to work with handicapped students for about 45 minutes. Normally, she works with deaf or blind children. Most of the children have more than one handicap. Each day Carolyn attempts to teach them the basic skills, such as eating from a plate and going to the bathroom. Her experience has helped her to decide to go into a career in special education.

When a friend asked Linda Dearing to go to church with her five years ago, Linda did not imagine that she would become as involved as she is. Linda enjoyed church immediately and decided to become a Christian. She started attending the United Assembly of God, in Plymouth. Since then, Linda has become very involved in her church youth group, spending from ten to fifteen hours a week at church. She helps put together their newsletter every month, sings in the church choir and works in the nursery. She also helps plan many of the activities and fund raisers for the youth group. When not at church, Linda enjoys babysitting and playing softball.

Watch Repair Person

Sue Flannigan has an interesting job; she fixes watches. She began her present duties at Sears about a year and a half ago. She was trained by a watchmaker to do minor repairs and to make estimates. The training took about three to four months. Sue likes the job because it taught her how to deal with people, and she learns something new every day. She says that the job has been valuable because it has taught her a skill that she will have for the rest of her life.

Window Installer

Since 1947 Mike Jelso's family have had their own window corporation. Mrs. Jelso took over the business in 1972 and Mike started working in 1978. His part-time job, after school, is replacing and installing windows. Mike also builds windows and fits them into older homes. He plans to go to the University of Michigan in Dearborn to get a degree in business before he considers taking over the family business. Mike says he enjoys working on windows and that you don't need any special talent except patience.

While many foreign exchange students, having little in common, have visited NHS, two had one special person in common, Lesley Koenig. Two Japanese foreign exchange students, Kaoru Miyaoka during the 1977-78 school year and Yumiko Takahashi during the 1979-80 school year, have stayed with Lesley and her family. Both girls came to the States through J.I.C.E., Japanese International Cultural Exchange. In the summer of 1979, Lesley traveled to the four islands of Japan, visiting Kaoru and Yumiko in the six and one half weeks she was gone. Lesley was a member of Drama Club, a flag girl and played soccer.

Student Model

Darcy Lovelace is involved in a career that some high school girls would love to try; she is a model. Darcy started modeling about two years ago because it was something she was interested in. She has modeled at Twelve Oaks, Fairlane, bridal shops, and for many photographers. Darcy has also modeled in two television shows. She would like to continue modeling after high school but probably not as a full time career.

Comic Strip Artist

Jenny Missel has a unique pet, a bear. Well it's not a real bear, it is a comic strip bear. Jenny has been drawing her bear ever since she was "knee high." Her bear is the star of the comic strip she occasionally draws.

Student-Congress President

Tony Nader was this year's student congress co-president. He was also in his junior high's student congress. The student congress poses as a medium between the students and the administration. The congress sponsors school activities such as homecoming. They also participate in several public services like the blood drive. This year Tony wrote down the agendas, then the group discussed problems, such as, the food fights and the chained doors. Tony said that his job was hard because he did not know what the students wanted or needed.

Photo Happy

It is usually not very difficult to find Judy Orr in a crowd of people. She is usually the one with the camera hanging around her neck. She has been interested in photography for many years, but has only been serious about it for four years. Judy became interested in photography because many of her relatives were good in art. Finding she was not very good at drawing or painting, she took up photography. This year, Judy was the Photography Editor of both the yearbook and the school paper. Judy wants to keep on taking pictures in the future, but probably only as a hobby.

Talented Dancer

Daryl Roth has been dancing since he was five years old. Ever since that time he has been interested in dance. When he was young, he appeared in several dance recitals because his mother was a dance teacher. In 1971-1973, Daryl was a member of a dance group called "Daryl and the Goldiggers." They entered talent shows and took second place three years in a row.

In high school, Daryl met Kelly Wiggins and she became his dancing partner. They entered the Gong Show and won first place. Daryl has encountered some opposition to his dancing but he feels that it is one of his greatest accomplishments. Daryl hopes to be able to continue his dancing in the future.

Mustanger Editors

The Mustanger's editors receive little recognition for their efforts. The co-editors-in-chief this year were Jane Field and Steve Smith. Steve and Jane found that heading the Mustanger Staff was a valuable learning experience.

All-American Swimmer

For someone who has been swimming only three and one half years, Kim Storm has come a long way. She became interested in swimming after going to some swim meets with a friend. She joined NHS swim team her sophomore year, lettered, qualified for the state meet and broke the time for the 50-yard freestyle. As a junior, Kim tied for second in the 100-yard freestyle at state and qualified as an All-American. In her senior year, Kim broke her own records in the 50 and 100-yard freestyle, placed second and third in the 50 and 100-yard freestyle, respectively, and was an All-American. Kim, along with Allyson Farquhar and Tammy Selfridge, was a tri-captain of the swim team. Kim swims with AAU, when not swimming with school. She practices three hours a day, six days a week, all year long.

Soccer Star

Kevin Swayne began playing soccer seven years ago. He became interested after his older brother, Mark, started playing soccer. Kevin started playing varsity soccer his junior year. This past fall, he helped the NHS soccer team take second place in the league. During NHS soccer, Kevin practiced two hours everyday after school. The rest of the year, he played in the Bonanza Soccer League, practicing two hours a day, two days a week. Kevin also played varsity basketball his junior and senior years and was on the track team in the spring of 1980.

Dual Manager

This year, the football and basketball teams were very successful. Kurt Westphal was manager for the teams and says his help was "debatable" but it did do some good. Kurt started managing in 9th grade when his brother was trying out for basketball. The team's coach asked him if he would help. For the football team, Kurt manages the equipment by making sure nothing is broken or damaged. In basketball, there are fewer injuries to the equipment and players, so he organizes the statistics. To Kurt football is easier to organize, because basketball has too many different obligations.

School Leader

Neal Young has been involved in many school activities during his three years at the high school. During his sophomore year he was a member of the Student Congress. He was also a member of the Forensics Team. He was the district champ in Humorous Interpretation. Neal has also played football and lettered in wrestling. He appeared in the spring 1980 play and went to Boy's State in the summer for an experience in setting up a government. He was a member of the student congress and worked on the Red Cross blood drive. Neal has been accepted to Michigan State for next year.

In the News Were...

After a five years absence John Lennon was just beginning to make a successful return to music. His comeback and his life were cut short when Mark David Chapman shot and killed him in front of his New York apartment. His violent death contrasted with his very peaceful life. John and his wife, Yoko Ono, were at the front of the peace movement during the early seventies. The reactions of his fans showed how much John Lennon and his music had touched their lives. Thousands of people attended silent vigils in his memory. When the silence was finally broken it was broken only by the sounds of music and tears.

Another event that touched many Northville residents was the announced closing of the Ford Valve Plant. When the plant closes it will take with it part of Northville's heritage.

Ronald Reagan not only won something he had been after for twelve years, the Presidency, but his victory was a landslide. A landslide that not only carried him into the White House but it also swept the Republican party to control of the Senate. The Republicans have not controlled the Senate in at least twenty years.

The main reason Jimmy Carter lost the election was also the reason he won the nomination, the fifty-two American hostages in Iran. His handling of the hostage crisis helped him to defeat Senator Kennedy in the primaries. But, soon after the nomination the hostage crisis began to turn against him. The hostage crisis became a political liability instead of an asset.

This was a year that nature showed us her beauty and unleashed her beast. In November the Voyager gave us our first close-up look at Saturn. The space mission solved past mysteries, but it also presented new questions.

Nature also revealed her dark side. A November earthquake in southern Italy killed 3000 people and left over 200,000 homeless. The many homeless victims were left to battle out the winter in makeshift shelters.

After a century of silence, Mt. St. Helens awoke with savage fury. On May 18, 1980 the volcano exploded with the force of an atomic bomb. The mountain spewed millions of tons of ash throughout the northwest United States darkening skies, covering towns and farms, and killing 34 people. The mountain still rumbles, reminding the residents of the awesome power it possesses.

In Poland the workers challenged Communist power, and won. An increase in meat prices led shipyard workers in Gdansk to strike for economic and social rights. The most impressive of these rights was the right to form their own union, Solidarity, free from Communist control. After that first strike, the union movement in Poland spread throughout the country and has gained more power. The union and the nation walked on the thin line between reform and revolution.

Another major event in the summer of 1980 was the flood of thousands of Cuban refugees. Many Cubans left everything, including family, behind; so they could make the risky voyage on one of the many ships that made up the "Freedom Flotilla."

In September Iran and Iraq went to war over the rights to a long disputed waterway. The war made it impossible for either country to supply oil, because both Iran and Iraq set out to destroy each other's oil fields and refineries. The war helped to raise gasoline prices and hampered efforts to get the hostages released from Iran.

Faulty design and lack of preparation led to panic when a fire broke out in the lower floors of the MGM Grand Hotel in Las Vegas. Eighty-four people were killed and hundreds injured in the November fire. Most of the deaths and injuries occurred when toxic smoke seeped through stairwells and elevator shafts, trapping guests on the upper floors, out of reach of rescue ladders. Some guests panicked and jumped to their deaths.

People woke up on the morning of April 24th, 1980 to sketchy reports about a failed rescue mission to free the 52 hostages held in Iran. The raid failed because three of the helicopters broke down. When the mission was leaving, a transport plane collided with a helicopter, killing eight servicemen.

The tension of that April morning was surpassed only by the tension and drama of January 20th, 1981. A deal to free the hostages had been made. The hostages were finally freed in the first hours of the Reagan administration. Their release set off a flood of yellow ribbons; almost anything that didn't move had a yellow ribbon tied around it.

For three people at Northville High, the hostages' release had a special meaning. Nancy Cleveland, and her brother Jim, relatives of Joseph Subic Jr., and Mr. Bernard Schwartz, relative of Barry Rosen, had an even higher stake in the hostage crisis.

For the 444 days the hostages were held, many exciting things happened. The city of Detroit and the surrounding areas were the scene of the Republican National Convention in July. Not only did the convention bring money into the area but it also brought prestige.

After many frustrating losses, Bo Schembechler could finally celebrate after the last game, because the U of M Wolverines finally won the Rose Bowl by beating the Washington Huskies, 23-6.

On, March 30, a gunman attempted to assassinate President Reagan. The President was injured in the attempt, and a bullet was removed from his left lung. Three others were injured in the attempt, Press Secretary James Brady, police officer Thomas Delahanty, and Secret Service agent Timothy McCarthy.

Organizations

Because the students at NHS have many interests, a diversity of clubs and organizations are offered. The NHS clubs include: Student Council, Drama Club, Mustanger, Choir, Cheerleading, Pep Club, Band—Marching and others—, German Club, Palladium, Pom Pon, GAA, and Flag Corps. These clubs entice many pupils with their wide variety of activities.

- 1 Marchers work hard to improve school spirit.
- 2 These girls get a kick out of pep assemblies.
- 3 Lora Higgins and Nancy Cleveland discuss how this year's yearbook will look.

Student Congress

The Student Congress was designed as an organization to coordinate activities of the administration and the students. During the year, congress members worked hard with both administration and students. Many of the Homecoming week activities were handled by student congress. The congress also serviced the community through the blood drive which was held in December.

National Honor Society

The National Honor Society consists of juniors with a G.P.A. of at least 3.8 their sophomore year and seniors with a G.P.A. of at least 3.6 their junior year. Contrary to popular belief, brains are not the only admission requirement. One must also have good citizenship, possess leadership qualities and be recommended by a teacher. Besides building a float for homecoming, and selling Christmas stockings, the Society members worked as tutors, went caroling and had other social get-togethers. Once again, some NHS members, Ann Drew and Tom Rothermel, were named National Merit Scholarship semi-finalists.

Mustanger

The NHS paper, the Mustanger, was published by a small staff of students led by co-editors Jane Field and Steve Smith. Many students don't realize the amount of work that goes into each issue. Hours of research, interviews and creative thinking were put into the paper. Managing editor: Vicki Beauchamp, Sports editor: Tony Nader, Photography editor: Judy Orr, Business staff: Sarah Conlon & Bonnie McIntosh.

Palladium Staff

Armed with a new sponsor, Mrs. Koops, and a new yearbook company, the Palladium staff began the year with high hopes and full of energy. Only 10 staff members worked under the editor-in-chief, Lora Higgins, but each one was hard-working and dedicated. After long hours of collecting ads, taking pictures, laying out pages, and typing copy, the result is this book, a monument to the year.

Drama Club

The NHS Drama Club is a large club. Few students outside of the club know much about it. The club, sponsored by Mr. Kurt Kinde, not only produced two plays this year but also attended professional productions and held fundraisers. The funds were used to finance the productions.

Choir

The NHS choir, revived in the spring of 1980, was filled with talented vocalists and pianists. The choir put on two concerts, one in the winter and one in the spring.

Forenise is public-speaking competition. The tournaments consist of local invitationals, as well as, district, state, and regional competitions. The students work long, hard hours polishing their presentations in the categories of humorous interpretation, serious interpretation, duo interpretation, original oratory, informative speaking, and impromptu speaking.

Co-op

Co-op is a vocational training program in which school and business cooperate to provide specialized training for juniors and seniors. One of the program's main objectives is to help the student make the adjustment from high school to college or full-time employment. The student attends school full or part time and works at least fifteen hours per week in an approved training station, and must take a related course in school.

German Club

The German Club is a unique club in two respects. It is the only foreign language club and is also open to all German students, having one member from Cooke Junior High. German Club has been very active this year, sponsoring Advent calendar, Gummie Bear, and German bake sales. The students went to Frankenmuth, Michigan in December and held a German dinner in February.

Cheerleaders

During the school year, both Junior Varsity and Varsity cheerleading squad sponsored flower sales and dances. They planned pep assemblies and special activities for the football and basketball teams.

The Varsity squad placed third at MSU's cheerleading camp last summer. In November, they went to CMU to participate in the U.S.C.A. Cheerleading Midwest Championships. Last summer, the Junior Varsity squad attended the International Cheerleading Foundation Summer Camp in Ann Arbor. They won the Grand Championship Trophy in the JV competition.

Pom Pon

Promoting school spirit and presenting halftime entertainment at home football and basketball games was the Pom Pon girls job this past year. The girls selected their own music and made up their own routines.

A new squad was chosen in March, so the girls could go to camp. Last July, they won first place in the AA division at Badgerette Pom Pon Camp at Albion College.

They had flower sales for Sweetest day and Valentine's Day and two car washes to raise money for camp.

Pep Club

Pep Club is a work organization designed to furnish the NHS athletics with needed items. Last year they helped finance the new scoreboard. Although this year they rebuilt their funds, they managed to paint the water tower. They sold refreshments at all the home football and basketball games. They also sponsored the Homecoming and the Winter dance.

G.A.A.

The main purpose of GAA is to promote girls' sports. The GAA raised money to improve various areas of girls' athletics. Last year they painted the lockerroom, organized a JV softball team, and bought hats for the varsity softball team. To help raise money, they had different projects throughout the year such as button sales.

N-Club

The N-Club is an organization of varsity letter winners which services the high school. They man the concession stands at games and donate money to the athletic department.

Marching Band And Flag Corps

The marching band and flag corps prepared to return to the football field at Blue Lakes Fine Arts Camp. They took the field after a year's absence with bright new uniforms and a tremendous enthusiasm for performing. Coming into the season with only three people who knew how to march, the flag corps worked doubly hard on marching, as well as making up and learning routines. The band marched at all the home games, in the homecoming parade, and at BAND-O-RAMA on December 4th.

NHS Bands

All the NHS bands: Wind Ensemble, Symphonic, Jazz I, and Jazz II, are very active during the school year. All the bands participate in the MSBOA festivals. They perform concerts both in school and out. As a summation of the year's activities, the bands put out a record album that includes both festival and concert music.

From Sweden...

To Lars Skog, N.H.S. is much easier than his school in Sweden. Lars' high school, called Gymnasium, was more like a college than one of our high schools. He went to the Gymnasium for four years, during which he never chose a class. After that he went to a "technical line" school instead of college. In Sweden Lars was involved with a type of student congress, school dances and skiing. He also played guitar with a group of friends.

Besides playing soccer here at N.H.S., Lars noticed that we (the U.S.) have a better economy than Sweden but we have too much commercialism.

From Norway...

Heidi Hansen is from a town called Harstad in north Norway. The little town does not have any bowling alleys, ice rinks or other places to spend a Friday night. She says it's cheaper to live here in the U.S., especially in the area of clothes. A pair of blue jeans in Norway cost about $80, and Levi's even more!

Heidi started school when she was seven years old and finished at sixteen. After that she had a choice of going to a high school or a trade school. Back in Norway, Heidi played soccer and was involved with the Y.W.C.A.

T.V.'s in Norway have only one channel, which offers only three movies a week and the news three times a day. The stations offer only educational movies, but they have no commercials.

She thinks that school here is easier, but Heidi still likes her homeland better than America.

N.H.S. Students Come From All Over

From West Germany...

Mike Klein is an exchange student from West Germany. He says that Northville High is much easier than the schools that he went to in Germany and that you only need basic knowledge to pass. He likes the variety and choice of classes here, however, better than his other schools. During Mike's year here he noticed that we don't respect our teachers as they do in Germany. Back home Mike was involved in horseback riding, wind-surfing, skiing, dancing and karate, so he made the transition to American sports easily by joining the swim and soccer teams here at N.H.S.

Community

Northville has always been known as a small town. Just recently, people have started to realize how big Northville has become. Regardless of our size, the community of Northville retains that friendly atmosphere and the good qualities of a small town. NHS receives support from the community in various ways. From the fans at our sporting events to the advertisers in the yearbook and Mustang, the community stands behind the Northville students.
