What Time Is It?

"It's 1993!" "It's June!" "It's 2:45 p.m." To most people, this is just another year, another month, or another time, but to the students of Northville High School this a year to remember. What time is it? It's Our Time!!

A beautiful summer day in downtown Northville before Manufacturers Bank became Comerica Bank.

Katrina Heckemeyer, Julie Zwiesler, Christine Goering, Meredith Kremer, Kathy Smith, and Donna Maupin pose in front of Northville's famous clock.

Traci Stachura, Jenny Pollock, Jenny McNally, and Betsy Gengler offer their assistance at the Victorian Festival.

Another Northville icon, the Farmer's Market, has moved from downtown Northville to the lot across from Northville Downs.

Time is Change

The Ford Plant water wheel is still turning though the plant has been closed for a few years. The plant is home to many Northville ducks that tend to wander across the street without concern for traffic.

Though Northville has been through many changes, one relic of antiquity is the Northville Well. Ducky dives after a piece of bread thrown by one of the many duck feeders of Northville.

The Time Is Now!

"What! It's 1993 already!?" Before we know it, people will be reminiscing, "Remember in the 90s when..." This year 1993 was a time of economic hardship. The millage increase failure created great turmoil in the school. Luckily, the millage increase defeat did not dampen the Northville spirit. The community showed their support for the Northville students' activities. The student's participation level, enthusiasm, and determination surpassed the millage problems making this year a successful one.

One of the favorite pastimes of Northville's Girls' Tennis team was to try to hit the water tower with old tennis balls.

Mr. Redmond congratulates Katy Murphy for winning the 1992 Homecoming crown.

Kelly Moser shows her spirit by playing the Northville Fight Song.

Time to Play

Although Northville High School was on a Pay-to-Play program because of the millage increase failure, athletics continued to thrive during the 1992-1993 school year. Northville High School feels that athletic participation is an integral part of learning. Many students agree with this sentiment and look forward to playing sports. In fact, even the students who do not play sports show their support of the athletic program through attendance and response to fund-raisers. Go Mustangs!

Foreign Language

Although many educators claim that learning a foreign language is less important in today's society, we here at Northville High School disagree. With three languages to choose from, Spanish, French, and German, many students opt to enroll in foreign language classes. Through the study of foreign languages, students learn not only how to communicate in foreign tongues, but also about foreign cultures and traditions, and our own language. Although the program has been adversely affected by a shortage of funds, it has prevailed. All advanced level courses have been combined. Yet because of the strength and commitment of the students and staff, students continue to study foreign languages.

High school math classes aren't always known to be the easiest, but the math teachers here at Northville High School at least make class bearable. From Pre-algebra to Calculus, our math department covers every student's needs. The encouragement of our teachers convinces many students to exceed the two year minimum requirement by continuing math classes until graduation. Every graduating senior will at least remember one important thing: that $2+2=5$.

$$\int \frac{x^3 dx}{\sqrt{(a^2 - x^2)^3}} = 2(a^2 - x^2)^{\frac{1}{2}} + \frac{x^2}{(a^2 - x^2)^{\frac{1}{2}}} = -\frac{a^2}{\sqrt{a^2 - x^2}} + \sqrt{a^2 - x^2}$$

IMC gives knowledge through time

The N.H.S. library is designed to serve students and staff with all their needs. Mrs. Ibach and the library staff have made the IMC a well run, organized, informational center for learning. They have established a wonderful network of computers, such as the ProQuest Magazine catalog and the electronic card catalog, to help us with our research. The IMC is frequented by many who wish to find a quiet reprieve from the bustle of classes and homework. Without the IMC, we would not be able to obtain information in this effective and efficient way.

N.H.S. Takes Time Out For Music

At over 100 members, the N.H.S. Marching/Symphonic band again delighted numerous audiences. The combined Choir/Band Holiday Concert was again a hit, as well as all other concerts. Thanks to drum majors Amanda Farkas, Steve VanDuzen, and Chris Dattilio, the pre-game and half-time shows were also a success. The symphonic band, under direction of Michael Rumbell, achieved high marks at Band Festival. All in all, the band has had a rich and fulfilling year.

The Hill is Alive With the Sound of Music

The Northville High School Choir Department had another successful year. The program has continued to grow and this year Girls' Ensemble was taught during the day. The Fall Concert had an international theme and was a big success. The joint band and Choir Christmas concert was also very successful. Through valiant fund-raising attempts, the Music Boosters were able to raise enough money to buy extra risers for the choir concerts. The second Annual Madrigal Dinner was an exciting way for students to learn about the music and culture of the Renaissance.

The Conservation Trip

Hi ho, hi ho, it's off to work we go...

Student pose with the Lumberjack's Monument.

Last spring, a group of unsuspecting city kids embarked on a journey they were not prepared for. The famous conservation trip, under the guidance of Ron "Michigan" Meteyer, introduced this motley group of suburbanites to the savage surroundings of Camp Mangosee. During their adventure from civilization, the campers were used as slave labor and chased in and out of vans (the brown fox and the grey squirrel) by Mr. Meteyer to view rare species of lichens. The adventurers marched up and down miles of stairs, used their powers of persuasion to obtain a tour of the Tawas Point lighthouse, and subjected themselves to campfire food prepared by their peers. Aside from the life threatening aspects of the Sunday to Tuesday trip, the campers also learned about the environment and their role in it. This self awareness came through nature center activities and speakers. The curriculum included constructing an erosion barrier, studying the effects of logging in Northern Michigan, and the process of recovery in fire stricken areas. Three intense days culminated in the observation of an endangered species, the Kirtland Warbler, in its natural habitat. No one knew that viewing a seemingly unimportant bird could put in perspective the importance of each aspect of nature. After their crash course in woodmanship, the previously soft suburbanites embarked for home a bit more mature than when they left. Not until the sight of a Burger King did the hardened adventurers see civilization, and it brought tears to their eyes.

Voice of the Students

Although the 1992-1993 school year proved at a disadvantage caused by the millage defeat, Northville High School's Student Congress still had a successful year. Under the leadership of President Laura White and Vice President Katy Murphy, Student Congress accomplished many diverse activities. After planning a successful "Homecoming in Hollywood," Student Congress continued with a prosperous blood drive and many teacher appreciation days. In addition, they had a great turnout at the after school open forum where all students and faculty were given the opportunity to express their concerns and ideas. From this open forum stemmed a School Improvement Committee made up of students, teachers, and administrators. Following the new year, Student Congress organized an event called The Dating Game and helped plan Project Pride Day. All in all, the school atmosphere was greatly improved as a result of the dedicated members of Student Congress.

Time to Lend a Hand

National Honor Society is an organization set up to provide community service. For example National Honor Society officers work in the High School office every morning to help facilitate the secretaries' mornings. Other activities range from tutoring, ushering, and candy striping. Members must maintain a 3.5 grade point average and contribute at least ten credits of community service each semester.

Officers: Historian Laura White, Secretary Emily Cannizzaro, President Ellen Song, Treasurer Allison Farmer, VP Rob Subotich.

Harambee

"Pulling Together"

Harambee is in its first year of operation at Northville High School. The mission of Harambee is to unite the minority students while making the general student body aware of issues that might otherwise be overlooked. The group helped our school celebrate Martin Luther King's birthday and maintains a showcase that focuses on multi-cultural activities. Harambee is a Swahili term meaning pulling together.

Race of the Mind

The Science Olympiad team had another successful year. Many students chose to participate in the competition and all learned a lot about science. As a result, the team did very well, at their March 20th competition at Thurston High School. Students compete individually or in groups. The events involve a variety of science disciplines ranging from Anatomy to Topographical Map Reading. Students work hard studying, using lab techniques, and making projects. Science Olympiad is a fun way for students to learn about science.

Exchange Students

Three students braved coming to Northville High School, though they didn't come from just another school. They weren't normal transfer students; they came across an ocean to be with us from Hong Kong, Czechoslovakia, and Germany. We enjoyed the experience, and we hope they did too.

Pep Club is an organization dedicated to help boost student morale. They run the concession stand at the football and basketball games. This year Pep Club generously allowed different organizations to run the concession stand. The profit was split equally between the organization and Pep Club. Spirit Week is also traditionally run by Pep Club. During Spirit Week, students dress up according to different dress up days and different competitions are set up during lunch periods. A Spirit Valentine Day's Dance was held on February 13.

Pom Pon

Once again the Pom Pon squad has been enthusiastically entertaining Northville High School. The squad has entertained faculty, staff, parents, and students during halftimes at football and basketball games, pep assemblies, and at the annual "girl-guy" routine, where they pair up for a performance with 22 guys. This is the first year the 22 members have been involved in competition. They placed 3rd at Plymouth Salem, 18th out of 53 at the Pistons Classic at the Palace, went to regionals in Ithaca, and qualified for state competition at Saginaw Valley State University. The squad is under the guidance of Mrs. Warner who has been the coach for one year, and was previously a pom pon girl herself.

Forensics

The N.H.S. Forensics team has had an extremely successful season. They have had many first place winners. Also, they won the First Place trophy at DCFL meet at Bethesda Christian and the commemorative trophy at Novi High School. They also had several people fly to Boca Raton, Florida for the national competition. Freshmen and sophomores competed in the Optimist Club Oratory Contest and had two first place winners. Adopt-A-Student Adopt-A-Student is a program created to welcome new students to N.H.S. A volunteer is matched with each new student according to similar interests. The pair then meets before school starts in the fall, and continues contact at lunch and various school events. Ms. Wiener, Adopt-A-Student's sponsor, conducts a few meetings to see how the "adoption" is going, and to pair volunteers with students who enroll at N.H.S. throughout the school year. The Adopt-A-Student program helps to make new students comfortable, and is a great way to make new friends.

When to Say No

Even though SADD is an extracurricular activity, SADD members did not have to pay a participation fee thanks to the volunteer work of Charlie Stilec. SADD is an organization set up to prevent students from drinking and driving. Guest speakers were invited to each meeting to inform students about the danger of drugs and drinking and driving. Other activities included the Window of Life, Grim Reaper Day, Maybury Madness, Shanty Creek, and Red Ribbon Week.

ACTIVITIES

Summer Institute

Ellen Song was among 26 students chosen from the United States to participate in an Independent Research Program at Michigan State University. This seven-week program, called the High School Honors Science Program (HSHSP), required each student to complete a research project and present a scientific paper about it. Ellen worked in the Life Science Department. She experimented with pituicyte and neuroblastoma cells. Participating students from California, New York, Ohio, Washington, Texas, and Michigan experienced seven weeks of college campus life.

Two N.H.S. students experienced college life this past summer. Tanya Williams and Katy Murphy were selected to attend the Summer Institute for the Arts and Sciences at Adrian College. For two weeks, Tanya waded in rivers testing for water pollution in her Freshwater Ecology intensive, while Katy performed theatre productions in her Improvisational Theatre and the Environment intensive. These students also attended daily exploratories ranging from Self Defense to Radio Broadcasting. Through their nightly peer group sessions, both girls learned more about themselves and the friends they met. This unique and rewarding experience was one they will always remember.

Back In Time

Angeles Liu, Valerie Bassin, Chris Datillio, and Amanda Farkas play in the Recorder Quartet.

Hear ye! Hear ye! The Olde Madrigal Dinner II was a smashing success. Put on by the Northville High School Concert Choir, the Madrigal Dinner included dinner and entertainment. Guests were served wassail, salad, roast beef, Noodles Romanoff, King Leonard's Beans, brown bread, glazed carrots, and Flaming Figgy Pudding. During the dinner, guests were entertained by the singing and dancing of the court, jugglers, and a fencing and fighting skit put on by Ring of Steel. The Madrigal Dinner is held every other year at Ye old Castle on the Hill, Northville High School, and it provides an interesting opportunity for people to experience a renaissance meal.

Jennifer Workman made enormous contributions to the play.

The Fall Play, The Curious Savage, is a comedy by John Patrick that shows how childhood spirits can easily become lost in a world seemingly motivated by greed and dishonesty. The play takes place in a living room for mentally ill patients and the story line revolves around the Savage family fortune, which was stolen and hidden by Mrs. Savage from her selfish children. The patients are kind, if a bit naive, and all have unique dreams revealed in their different personalities. Despite the many attempts by Mrs. Savage's children to take her money, Mrs. Savage kept the money with the help of the hospital's nurse.

Travel Back To the 50's

This year, Northville High School presented Grease. The show was very successful and many Northville High School students supported the show and came to see it. The show ran for four days, April 1, 2, 3, and 4. The show opens as Eugene (Joe Lang) reminisces about his days at Rydell High School. The story revolves around Sandy (Stacey Nield) and Danny (Marc VanSoest), who are struggling to find their identities. Although considered a "light" play, Grease does address some serious issues. Thanks to director Gary Sturm, all actors and actresses were able to portray their characters effectively. Jenny Workman assisted Gary and allowed him to devote all his energies to directing. The technical crews all did a wonderful job with props, set, and tickets. Congratulations to all students involved for their success.

Spirit Week 1993

Spirit Week 1993 was held February 8-12. Unfortunately due to snowy weather conditions the pep rally that was to be held on February 12 was cancelled and moved to the following week. Pep Club hosted many activities during the week: Dress up days, lunch time activities, class competitions, and the pep rally. This year Northville's Varsity Basketball team won a close game against the Canton Chiefs. Classes also hung their murals on the gym wall to show their support for the basketball team.

The Varsity Basketball team, led by a strong group of seniors, battled through a formidable division in the Western Lakes Activities Association. Coach Larry Taylor's inaugural year proved successful, though, with several players gaining postseason honors. This outlook for the following year is one of opportunity and a goal of a conference championship.

J.V. Basketball outperformed its expectations. Although the team's start was turbulent due to internal conflicts, they sustained composure and began the year with only one loss in ten games. The J.V.'s should fill in well for the departing varsity players.

Freshmen Basketball exhibited drive and ambition, but in their play all that lacks is development. By the opening tip of next season, the team will be well-adjusted to the rigors of high school basketball.

This year's JV and Varsity teams were combined into one team. Lisa Kolin's volunteer help enabled the team to keep a Varsity reserve of fourteen people. Uta Filkin and Lisa Kolin trained the team to a successful 7-5 season. This year's captains were Jenny Lower and Kristen Davis. Though this year's team was a young team consisting of mostly sophomores and juniors, it will lose seniors Jenny Lower, Ellen Song, Kristen Davis, and Sarah Christenson.

MEN'S SOCCER

The Men's Varsity Soccer team, headed by Coaches Bob Paul and Henry Klimes, finished the 1992 soccer season with an 8-9-2 record. The team should have a fresh start next year, losing nine seniors to graduation. The team will miss players like All-Division team members Matt Osiecki and Steve Moore along with Gordie Collins, Sean Gordon, Brian Nawrocki, Justin Lankes, Steve Falkiewicz, Dave Chaves, and Clay Cutchins.

The Northville Cross Country team, led by a strong corps of upperclassmen, stole numerous trophies and medals from their unsuspecting opponents. Unfortunately, the Harriers compete in the top division in the state, and contended themselves with a 3-3 record. The awards for the 1992 season are as follows: Scholar Athlete... Dave Fetterman; Most Valuable... Chris Smith; Most Improved... Nathan Kirmis; "Guts"... Kevin Becker. Seniors Roberts Kukainis and Chris Smith captained the squad. Their sterling performances and constant positive and constant positive attitude, coupled with proven leadership of coach Ed Gabrys, provided the youthful Harriers with guidance and support. The team will lose Kukainis, Smith, and Curt Novara to graduation, but a Herculean recovery from these tremendous losses is anticipated.

Jodi Clark, Laura Thomas, Sara Goshorn, and Adrienne Browne gleam with confidence at the starting line. Their mental attitude was rewarded at the finish, overpowering Harrison 45-10.

Aside from all the cross country parties, the girls cross country team finished a challenging but great season with a 3-3 record for dual meets. We also continued a two year tradition overpowering John Glenn for the winning trophy. Many of the girls also won numerous medals. The awards for this season are as follows, Scholar Athlete... Urvi Mujamdar; Most Improved... Rachel Cieslak; and Most Valuable... Rachel Lidel. The captains were Laura Thomas and Roopal Vashi. We will lose Stacey Nield to graduation. All of the girls showed spectacular improvement. Battling through the wind, rain, heat, and snow all of those grueling miles paid off in the end.

Cheerleading

The Michigan High School Athletic Association adopted cheerleading as a sport for the first time this year. The girls' season began in August and continued through March. This past summer, the cheerleaders attended a Universal Cheerleaders Association sponsored camp at Eastern Michigan University. In addition to cheering at all football and basketball games this past fall and winter, both squads competed in the W.L.A.A. competition held at Churchill High School. Junior Varsity placed first in the Dance category and second overall. The varsity squad placed second overall. Judy Walsh became the new cheerleading coach this year.

Seniors 1993

The Class of 1993 unquestionably enjoyed their last year at Northville High School. Fund-raisers including a root beer float sale, a flower sale, and the Sadie Hawkins Dance raised money for the prom at the Radisson in Ypsilanti. The Seniors will leave memories of fun, friendship, and hard work. The Mustangs were led by President Stacey Nield, Vice President Rob Kukainis, Secretary Leslie Allen, Treasurer Ellen Song, and Cyndi Gricius and Allison Farmer as Historians.

Juniors

The Junior Class was very busy this year. The class officers worked hard to make fund-raisers such as car washes, donut sales, and bottle collections successful. They also got a chance to help cater a parents dinner at Catholic Central. Classmates pulled together to raise over $2,000 from the traditional Junior Class magazine sale. Class participation soared this year as Prom is closing in. The future looks to be extremely promising and the class is looking forward to a GREAT Prom.

Sophomores

Under the leadership of President Lindsay Petrie, Vice President Brad Borgia, Secretary Jodi Fischer, and Treasurer Sandy Morante, the super sophomore class held many events and activities. They kicked off the year with a Fourth of July chocolate chip cookie sale at Mill Race. Spirit and unity was displayed by the building of their Homecoming float. They were proud to have King Kong come in second place. Other activities included working at the Victorian Festival, car washes, flower sales, and the concession stand at the Homecoming game. The Class of 1995 came alive with teamwork and unity while having a great time.

Just the beginning...

Freshmen have time of lives

After a quick election of the new freshmen officers, President Laura Genetti, Vice President Andy Song, Secretary Amy Frankel, and Treasurer Matt Minard, the Freshmen class got off to a tremendous start. The first event, the fall car wash, was a lot of fun. Over half the freshmen participated. The car wash was an overall success, earning over $800 for the treasury. Showing their commitment to the community, they participated in the Victorian Festival in September. When Homecoming approached, the freshmen worked diligently on their "Silence of the Lambs" float, placing third. The freshmen class will continue to excel at N.H.S.

Quotes from Freshmen

Q: What's your favorite pick-up line?

A: I am a goddess, come worship me.

Q: What is mauve?

A: The next hair color of Madonna.

Q: If you could give one piece of advice to the incoming Class of 1997, what would it be?

A: Don't flirt with the lunch ladies!

Q: How many freshmen does it take to screw in a light bulb?

A: None, we forced a bunch of 8th graders to do it for us.

Q: What is your philosophy in life?

A: A ship is safe in a harbor, but that's not what ships are built for.

*If in your thought you must measure
TIME into seasons, let each season encircle all the other seasons. And let today embrace the past with remembrance and the future with longing. Yesterday is but today's memory and tomorrow is today's dream.*

Dear fellow classmates,

It is difficult to ensure that each member from a group of 300 unique teenagers will leave high school with at least one fond memory. As a class that has continued to create and enjoy a large variety of activities and interests, in just four years, we have succeeded. We hope as we each strive to reach our future goals; whether they be academic, family related, personal, or career oriented; we can pause for a moment and enjoy the happiness we created at Northville High School.

Athletics will remain the highlight of high school for a number of you. Although each of our teams had their "stars," and were generally competitive, a few names and teams will always shine for their continued success. The "most changed" sport was football. How many of you remember attending Northville High School football games as seventh and eighth graders? We knew it would be more interesting to play our own game behind the fence, than to watch orange and black be destroyed again. During our four years, Northville came incredibly close to a state title, received regional recognition and remained strong throughout our participation. Congratulations.

Others found enjoyment through music and stage performance. Northville High School bands and choirs were continually recognized throughout the state. Our debate and forensics teams continually grew and remained competitive. All of these groups helped provide students that, together, created memorable performances of "Grease", "West Side Story", "Carousel", and "Evita." Thank you for sharing these talents and achievements.

Many classmates found their happiness socially. Activities such as a concert, a first place Homecoming float, dating, making root beer floats downtown, sporting events, parties, pep rallies, and great movies, created many unique memories for each of us.

Numerous students found their enthusiasm academically. Our class helped create a school named a "Michigan Exemplary School." We strived for continued academic success despite the frustrations and effects of millage defeats. The Class of 1993 witnessed many successful years of our National Honor Society chapter. We also individually applauded many classmates who were award winning poets, mathematicians, scientists, standardized test achievers, and scholarship recipients. Congratulations to those of you who found academic success.

Each of you have contributed to one of the events many of us will look back on. Therefore each of you will be thought of by so many others as you attempt to succeed. As graduating seniors it is hard to picture the faces of many classmates and memories dusty and blurred. Please try and keep them close and use them as the fundamental stance of your adult character. We would like to thank you and wish you luck in achieving personal success and happiness.

Your Class Officers,

Time Capsule

1992-1993

Do you remember when the sprinklers went on during the football game? How about when we had a hole in our wall? Or when the World Trade Center was bombed? Snow days, elections, angry school board members, Yugoslavia, Somalia, the second attack on Iraq, Woolly Bully's, Socks the First Cat, Superman's death, Cheers says goodbye -- some of the memories of the 1992-1993 school year.

Mr. Redmond and Mrs. Warner demonstrate the "suck and blow" technique for Spirit Week.

The seniors keep on selling elevator passes.

The reconstruction of the "Hole in the Wall."

IN REVIEW

In a quiet moment amongst all the festivities of inauguration week, President-elect Bill Clinton found time to reflect upon the past during a visit to the tomb of former President John F. Kennedy. The next day, during his inauguration speech, he urged Americans to look to the future. (Photo by Sipa Press)

The 1992 Presidential election will probably be best remembered as a season of change — not only because of the transfer of power, but also in the ways the campaigns were conducted.

For the first time in recent memory, a third-party candidate made a serious bid for the presidency. H. Ross Perot captured the imagination of voters with his independent bid, but soon disappointed them when he dropped out of the race in July.

Returning in October, he won many Americans over with his plain talk and television infomercials. Perot gained the necessary signatures to place him on state ballots, and received 19 percent of the popular vote.

Major-party candidates George Bush and Bill Clinton appeared on talk shows and crisscrossed the country making personal appearances to sway the electorate.

Clinton were active, often campaigning apart from their husbands.

Even Murphy Brown, inhaling and spelling were part of the hard-fought campaign.

Voters turned out in record numbers, many waiting in line for hours to cast their ballots.

In the end, it was Clinton's combination of small-town roots and broad visions of change that tipped the American public in his favor.

The theme of the Clinton/Gore campaign was "Putting People First," and the Democrats went out on the road to show their commitment. Clinton and running mate Al Gore, along with their wives, made scores of personal appearances, touring the country by bus.

Former President George Bush won his party's nomination in August, but many saw the Republican Convention as a sign of the strife and division inside the GOP.

Third-party candidate Ross Perot appeared on "Donahue," among other talk shows, to better reach the public. He often used charts and graphs to illustrate his message. Television and radio talk shows, from "Larry King Live" to MTV, played an important part in all three campaigns.

OVERKILL

12/1/92—Amy Fisher was sentenced to 5-15 years for shooting the wife of her alleged lover, Joey Buttafuoco. Within two months, all three major television networks had shown movies dramatizing the case.

DIVORCED

9/25/92—Gregory Kingsley, a 12-year-old boy, "divorced" his mother so that he could be adopted by a foster family who had been caring for him.

AMBUSHED

1/25/93—Two CIA employees were killed and three were injured when a gunman opened fire near the entrance of the CIA headquarters in Langley, Va.

This past year saw further proof that the Cold War was over, while other countries flexed their muscles in the latest hot spots. In December, Russian President Boris Yeltsin and former President George Bush agreed to START II, a continuing reduction of nuclear arms by Russia and the U.S.

Three months later, Yeltsin faced serious opposition from conservative hard-liners and the remaining Communists in his government. Although unable to get enough votes for an outright impeachment, the Congress of People's Deputies continued to try to weaken Yeltsin's power.

In August, the U.S. and its Gulf War allies issued an order prohibiting Iraqi planes from flying south of the 32nd parallel. The order, which was enacted to protect Shiites in Southern Iraq, was enforced in December when Iraqi warplanes began to enter the zone. On Jan. 13, the Western allies retaliated in force by bombing Iraqi missile batteries and radar stations.

The British royal family had a year they would like to forget. Princess Anne ended one marriage and started another. After several public indiscretions by the Duchess of York, Sarah Ferguson, Prince Andrew decided they should separate. Prime Minister John Major announced to the House of Commons that Prince Charles and Princess Diana would also separate. As the year came mercifully to an end, a fire in Windsor Castle destroyed the 14th Century St. George's Hall.

Back in the United States, Dr. Jack Kevorkian, the so-called "suicide doctor," raced against time when a Michigan law was passed making assisted suicides illegal. Kevorkian, who had helped 15 terminally ill patients end their lives since 1990, vowed to continue his work until Feb. 25, when the law went into effect.

A religious compound in Waco, Texas, became the scene of a tense standoff when cult leader David Koresh and his followers opened fire on ATF agents who were there investigating a report that weapons were being stockpiled. Four ATF agents were killed and 15 were injured, and a war of nerves ensued as officials waited for Koresh to surrender.

Not only did the American people choose a new president in 1992, they also elected many new faces to Congress. After complaints about governmental gridlock and a check-bouncing scandal, anti-incumbent sentiments were high. A record-setting number of women and minorities were elected, including Carol Moseley Braun of Illinois, the first African-American woman to be elected to the Senate.

U.S. troops were deployed in a non-military action, with the blessing of the United Nations, to the African nation of Somalia in November. The 1992-93 school year brought both new and familiar faces into the sports and entertainment spotlight, and also saw the end to some illustrious careers.

New York Yankees owner George Steinbrenner returned to baseball after serving only two and a half years of his "lifetime" ban when the former commissioner, Fay Vincent, pardoned him.

Vincent himself resigned as commissioner in September after several major clashes with the owners.

Bo Jackson returned from what was assumed to be a career-ending hip injury. Picked up on waivers by the Chicago White Sox, Jackson had hip-replacement surgery and made the team during Florida spring training.

Spring training was also the site of tragedy for the Cleveland Indians—on March 20, relief pitcher Steve Olin and backup catcher Tim Crews were killed when the boat they were in crashed into a pier.

The Summer Olympics brought together the NBA's best players for the U.S. basketball team. "The Dream Team" brought home a gold medal and provided a last hurrah for the soon-to-be retired Magic Johnson and Larry Bird, whose bad back forced him out of the game.

Johnson had announced his retirement from basketball in November 1991, then returned in September of the next year. After weeks of controversy during which other players expressed the fear of contracting AIDS from him, he retired for good Nov. 2.

In entertainment news, Woody Allen's relationship with long-time companion Mia Farrow ended amid much publicity, when Farrow accused

'Twas The Night Before Christmas

'Twas the night before Christmas and all through the town
everyone was at PARTIES
just chuggin' booze down.
There'd later be hangovers
but right now who cared?
They knew in the morning
the aspirin would be there.

Their parents were nestled all snug in their beds assured that their kids
would be using their heads.
Mama in her nighty
and Daddy in his shorts had just settled down and were starting to snore.

Then the telephone rang and woke them both up before either one knew it they rapped with a cop.

Away to the station
they flew like a flash got out of the car
and to the door they dashed.
To the rhythm of typewriters and the ringing of phones their fear of what happened followed them home.

The police it seems were quite concerned.
All the parents could do was wait to learn.
When what to their tear-swollen eyes should appear but a cooler of ice and a twelve-pack of beer.

Then in came the chief,
decked out in his blues.
They knew something was wrong
but what happened to whom.

Gently he told them
he had some bad news
Their kid had been killed and the clue was the booze.

It's easy to say
this won't happen to you,
but that's what they said yesterday too.

So many simple harmonies
 Have made our moments blend.
 So many subtle sounds of truth
 Have softly shouted friend.
 So many routine treasures
 Of good will have tuned our trust.
 So many kind and caring notes
 Have helped our lives adjust.
 So many friendly acts of faith
 Have flattered, charmed the soul.
 So many heartfelt hopes have pushed
 Me gently toward my goal.
 So many deeds of understanding,
 Gestures truly kind,
 Have left your gentle melodies
 Of friendship on my mind.
